

Complete vendor exploit list

YOUR UPLOADED CONFIG / UNMODIFIED MODULE / NO VENDOR-GUARD PATCH

108 profitable item IDs

This expands the previous eight-item screenshot and 90-item list. It includes every positive-ceiling opportunity found in the documented baseline scan, regardless of whether the item is also crafted, farmed, looted or seller-blacklisted. All seven existing price revisions in your config are retained.

Result	Count
Positive at a possible buyer ceiling, after 5% AH cut	108 items
Positive at the lowest buyer valuation, using a lower listing price	102 items
Need a favourable buyer roll to make a profit	6 items
Vendor-source records in the complete appendix	3,688
Profitable items already on your seller blacklist	33

How complete is “complete”?

The scan covers 46,096 baseline item templates and screens 1,461 positive-gold-cost vendor item IDs that pass the binding/conjured/duration checks. It resolves static vendor references and includes event-added vendor stock. Pure token purchases and untradeable items are excluded. Vendor conditions, faction access, phases, live event state and custom scripts are not simulated.

Files and navigation

The following pages explain the figures, followed by a wide pricing table for all 108 items and a complete NPC/stock/restock appendix. Bookmarks and CSV page pointers help locate any item. All 3,688 sources are listed, not just the example vendor in the summary.

Why the number increased from 90

The earlier scan used a fixed 128c safety deduction and focused on floor opportunities. This expanded calculation includes favourable-roll cases and cheap bundle-priced items, including ammunition. It uses strict buyer comparisons, pack quantities and conservative net proceeds after the AH cut.

Read the columns correctly

AMOUNTS ARE PER VENDOR PURCHASE PACK, NOT NECESSARILY PER UNIT

Column	Meaning
Pack	Number of item units in one NPC purchase. Most are 1; ammunition is commonly 200.
Valuation range	The item-value roll, multiplied by pack size. For a blacklisted item this is NOT an actual bot seller listing.
Vendor cost	Undiscounted gold price of that entire pack.
Bot max buyout	Largest integer buyout below the maximum buyer budget for the pack, limited by the existing guard where applicable.
Net floor / Net max	Profit from TWO DIFFERENT listing strategies: floor-safe or maximum buyout, less the 5% cut and vendor cost.
Stock / Restock	Maximum units held and exact refill interval. Unlimited stock has no vendor-stock ceiling.
Restock net/day	Long-run theoretical refill-profit ceiling for one active NPC, using maximum-price sales. Not guaranteed daily income.

Floor-positive is not an instant-sale guarantee

It means a lower fixed buyout is below every computed valuation roll and still profitable if sold. The buyer still needs to evaluate the auction and meet its other rules. A maximum-price listing can require a rare high-end roll. Do not use the net-floor figure as a guaranteed outcome when listing at the maximum price.

Fees and stacking

Net figures use 95% of the buyout rounded down. Successful-sale deposits are refundable; expired/cancelled auctions can lose deposits. Travel/time and those losses are excluded. Neutral-AH 15% commission requires recalculation. The unpatched legacy guard compares whole-auction prices to a per-item SellPrice; that behavior is preserved here.

Markers

[B] = seller-blacklisted, but not excluded from buyer consideration.

[E] or [E114] = event-associated NPC or event-added stock; check availability.

[N] = no static creature spawn record found for this source; database lead, not verified live access. Every listed item has at least one other source with static spawn records.

Stock limits—not promised income

THE REFILL AMOUNT IS ONE PURCHASE PACK PER INTERVAL

The source replenishes BuyCount units per restock interval, not the entire maximum stock. For a limited-stock vendor with a valid pack size:

Calculation	Meaning
$\text{Packs/day} = 86,400 \div \text{restock seconds}$	Long-run average replenishment while the NPC remains available.
$\text{Restock net/day} = \text{packs/day} \times \text{net maximum per pack}$	An optimistic supply ceiling, excluding initial inventory. It assumes immediate collection, top-price completed sales and no competition.

Examples that differ from the old screenshot

Qiff item	Correct baseline behavior
Handful of Fel Iron Bolts	Stock 2, but one pack refills per hour: 24 packs/day on average, not 48.
Felsteel Stabilizer	180,000 seconds = 50 hours (2d 2h), not exactly two days. Average refill: 0.48 packs/day.

No global “gold/day” total is claimed

Unlimited-stock routes are constrained by the bot and auctions, not a finite NPC supply limit. Seasonal/alternate spawn records may not be active together. In particular, multiple static Lhara records are not proof of multiple simultaneously available Faire vendors. Do not add every row as if all were accessible all day.

What the expanded source appendix contains

NPC ID/name, item ID/name, pack, gold cost, maximum buyer buyout, net floor/max, stock, refill time and per-NPC restock bound. The CSV also includes map IDs, static spawn counts, event IDs and source-table information. There are 109 individual source rows with no static spawn; these are marked [N].

The seven repriced items

CURRENT OVERRIDES REMAIN IN FORCE; NO SOURCE PATCH ASSUMED

ID	Item	Current base-price result
44499	Salvaged Iron Golem Parts	Not profitable; net max −150g 00s 03c per pack.
38425	Heavy Borean Leather	Not profitable; net max −27s 03c per pack.
38426	Eternium Thread	Not profitable; net max −15s 03c per pack.
20824	Simple Grinder	Not profitable; net max −12s 53c per pack.
40411	Enchanted Vial	Not profitable; net max −25s 11c per pack.
46888	Bountiful Basket	Excluded: seven-day duration makes it ineligible for normal AH listing.
4378	Heavy Dynamite	Not profitable; net max −73c per pack.

Important correction for Bountiful Basket

Its checked item template has duration=604800 seconds. The auction handler rejects duration-bearing items. Therefore it should not be treated as an ordinary currently auctionable vendor flip merely because a price table shows a margin.

Discount sensitivity is separate

Vendor reputation discounts can change acquisition costs, but not every vendor offers them. The next page shows 13 items that would turn positive under an illustrative 20% retail discount. Discount eligibility was not established, so they are NOT counted among the 108 base-price opportunities.

The screenshot and this report use different margin conventions

The older screenshot primarily showed maximum gross margins. This report labels the maximum possible buyer buyout and subtracts the faction AH cut for net margins. It also respects bundle sizes—for example, Enchanted Vials are purchased in packs of five. Copper-level differences reflect strict buyer comparisons and rounding.

Discount-only sensitivity cases

NOT CONFIRMED EXPLOITS; NOT PART OF THE 108-ITEM COUNT

These are arithmetic “what if” cases. An actual eligible discount must exist at an accessible vendor before a row becomes an actionable route. A neutral/non-reputation vendor may never offer the assumed reduction.

What happens next in this PDF

First: the complete 108-item base-price table, with one illustrative best-stocked source per item. Then: every one of the 3,688 vendor-source records. Use the source appendix rather than assuming the illustrative source is the only NPC that sells an item.

No server changes

This is a report only. Your configuration, blacklist and module source have not been modified. The supplied CSVs include a complete screened-item list so that non-profitable outcomes can also be checked.
